

A stylized sun with rays, rendered in a warm orange and yellow color palette. The sun is positioned in the upper half of the image, with its rays extending outwards. The background features a gradient of warm colors, transitioning from light orange at the top to a deeper orange and red towards the right. The bottom of the image is dominated by a large, stylized blue wave that curves across the frame. On the left side, there is a vertical decorative border with a repeating geometric pattern in shades of blue and white.
